

Glenn Brock Receives Elbert County Native Citizens Award

The Elbert County Chamber of Commerce honored Glenn Brock at its 86th annual banquet with the Native Citizens Award. Brock was given tribute for developing a distinguished career in the education and legal profession in Georgia from his childhood in rural Bowman, Georgia.

“For my home town to recognize me in this way was a surprise and the honor of a lifetime,” said Brock in response to the award.

The presentation was made by Chamber Chair Sandra Brown.

Brock has represented school districts in Georgia since 1988. He has been involved in leadership roles with associations and state government, receiving recognition for his expertise in education law in the state.

According to his biography, Brock’s “small town Georgia roots show in his personal dedication to relationships, his forthright approach and his unyielding support for his clients.”

Brock’s full biography can be found on the Brock Clay website www.brockclay.com under Our Attorneys.

About the Elbert County Chamber of Commerce: www.elbertga.com

The mission of the Elbert County Chamber of Commerce is to promote commerce, tourism, and growth that enhance the quality of life in our community.