Glenn and Alice Brock Serve as Chair of the Oscar Night America 2010 Gala Benefiting the Center for Family Resources

For fourteen years the Center for Family Resources (CFR) has been the official Atlanta host for the Academy Awards. With this unique honor, the charitable organization is given the ability to develop an event around the viewing of the Oscars and raise much needed funds for their programs. This year, Brock, Clay Calhoun & Rogers founding partner, Glenn Brock, with his wife Alice, served as the hosts for the 2010 event at the Cobb Energy Performing Arts Centre.

“CFR has done so much for our community Alice and I were excited about the opportunity to be able to give our time to this effort,” said Brock. “We have always supported Jeri Barr, the President, and her team who do such a valuable service for Cobb County.”

After an elegant dinner, attendees were then open to celebrate the glamour of the Academy Award presentations in the main theatre or dance and enjoy refreshments just outside.

“We are grateful to the CFR Board and the Oscar Night Committee who helped raise more than $ 250,000,” Brock announced. The funds raised at the annual event go to provide support for families in need by providing education, housing, food and other services.

The 2010 Gala also marked the beginning of the celebration of CFR’s 50th Anniversary.

About the Center for Family Resources:

www.thecfr.org

The vision of The Center for Family Resources founders is that it would be a premier place with the best people and programs for strengthening individuals, families, and communities so that they could acquire the resources they need to become independent and self-sufficient, thereby breaking the cycle of poverty. Since 1960, CFR has helped thousands of low-income families with employment, education, and housing services; leadership development programs; mentoring opportunities; and temporary financial and food assistance.

CFR carries out its mission by providing temporary financial assistance to stabilize families in crisis; housing for low-income and homeless families in a safe and secure environment; and education and training to individuals and communities to increase economic capacity and personal growth. Additionally, CFR provides affordable office space to other nonprofit agencies in our community at The Mansour Center.
